MILLIONS OF People IN AGONY.

PHYSICIANS CORNERED.

I suppose there is not in the whole of a physician's experience anything in human suffering which calls forth his sympathy and pity to such an extent as to witness the excruciating pains of a poor mortal suffering from that fearful disease Rheumatism. Heretofore there has been considerable diversity of opinion among medical men, as to the true character of this disease, some locating it in the fibrous or muscular tissues of the system, and others viewing it as an acute nervous disease, but it is now generally admitted to be a disease arising from a poisonous condition in the blood, and further it is admitted that rheumatism can never be thoroughly cured without exterminating such poisonous matters from the blood by a constitutional internal remedy. We feel confident that none will feel better satisfied and rejoice more than the conscientious physician who has found out that a true cure for this stubborn disease has been discovered. The following testimony from a Portland gentleman cannot fail to satisfy all that the is a wonderful Medical Discovery.

PORTLAND, Dec. 21, 1874.

Prof. Alphonse Hiller

Dear Sir: Unsolicited by you, I wish to bear testimony to the efficacy of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. During the past year I have suffered greatly from that common and agonizing affliction, Rheumatism. My shoulder was so affected that my left arm was powerless, and I despaired of ever again having the use of that limb. I was induced, by hearing of the many marvellous cures ... by the agent while staying at the Preble House, to buy a bottle. It is sufficient to say that without faith in the medicine or its results, by the taking of five small bottles I was entirely relieved. And I was but sure ... and I am still all right and free from pain, with no indications of its return, and the feeling of new life I experience I attribute to the use of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. Have the kindness to pass my testimony and experience around for the benefit of suffering humanity.

Yours truly,

CYRUS HANSCOM, Temple St.

FURTHER PROOF.

CAPE ELIZABETH, Nov 12, 1874.

Prof. Alphonse Hiller

Dear Sir: This is to certify that I have been a ... sufferer from inflammatory Rheumatism for the past three years, and during the last year my sufferings have been beyond description. I have tried everything I could hear of but obtained no relief until I tried the "Diamond Rheumatic Cure." It is truly a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours, AMANDA M. BROWN.

Mrs. Capt. Walden is witness to this statement.

The discoverer of this medicine walked the aisles of the hospitals of London and Paris for the past twenty years, making rheumatism a specialty, and the prescription from which this remedy is compounded is the result of ... treatment of this disease. In simple cases sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic case it is sure to give way by the use of four or five bottles. Put up and prepared for the Maine Laboratory Association by F. W. CONNER, 113 Court St., Boston. For sale everywhere. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send for it to the wholesale agents.

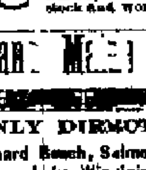
Who is Mrs. Winslow.

As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who, for upwards of thirty years, has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her, especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are DAILY sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No mother has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—TRY IT NOW.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City. Sold by all Druggists.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.



The PERUVIAN SYRUP Vitalizes and Enriches the Blood, Tones up the System, builds up the broken down, cures Dyspepsia, Debility, Dropsy, Chills and Fevers, Chronic Diarrhoea, Nervous Affections, Boils, Humors, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, &c.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, happy men and women, and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

Caution—Be sure you get the "PERUVIAN SYRUP" (not Peruvian Bark). Sold by dealers generally.

A 32-page pamphlet, containing a treatise on Iron as a medical agent and other valuable papers, testimonials from distinguished physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

THE FOREST IN HANCOCK COUNTY—DEVELOPING ITS RESOURCES—ESTABLISHED AND PROJECTED INDUSTRIES—CAMP LIFE, ETC.

CAMP HOPKINS, UNION RIVER, HANCOCK COUNTY, MAINE, July 19, 1875.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

Did you ever, from the summit of Cape Blomidon, look down upon the lands of the Acadians, the homes redeemed from the mysterious tides, which from the base of this high promontory to Grand Pareé, make of the basin of mines a sea and a dry land, and contemplate the events which have transpired on the broad dyke lands, the green hills and gently sloping uplands beyond?

The inspiration which, through Evangeline, has made this Arcadian Paradise (where was perpetrated a crime which has fixed an indelible stain on Anglo-Saxon rule in the New World, and which all Christian people execrate), the most attractive resort in all the Colonial possessions to pleasure seekers on both sides of the ocean. Not less famous have been rendered the forests of the Adirondacks (the Switzerland of America), by the descriptive pen of that most reverend sportsman, the prolific Murray. Not a mountain lake, pond or rivulet, whose pure sparkling waters feed the great rivers which flow down from these high altitudes into Champlain, the Hudson and the Saint Lawrence, that is not now traversed, not only by the disciples of Isaac Walton, attracted from all over the land, but by pleasure seekers from all our great cities, who love mountain scenery and enjoy the chase of the deer and other wild game, and who regard this wild mountain region as the most attractive of all the famous resorts which draw pleasure seekers from the cities during the heated term of the summer.

In company with some of the most celebrated sportsmen of your own city, I have traversed the forests of the Adirondacks—have caught trout in the Pascoe, Long Lake, the Saranacs, along the head-waters of the Raquette, St. Regis and other large streams which flow from these almost inaccessible forests—have, from the highest peaks of the Adirondacks, looked down upon the valley of Champlain, the Hudson, Ontario and the St. Lawrence, marking the route of the latter river as it stretches to and beyond Montreal, on its way to the Gulf, not a mountain intervening to obstruct the view from these highlands to the coast of Labrador. I can therefore bear witness to the almost unsurpassed beauty of the scenery and to the modesty of the description by the pen of the sportive divine, which has given to this region so world-wide a renown.

The swarms of visitors who fish the waters of the Adirondacks, have rendered the trout as scarce and wary in all their lakes and rivers as are the deer and other wild game in the surrounding forests, which have been unceasingly hunted for more than a generation.

Moosehead Lake with its surroundings, less in extent but proportionally attractive, has a notoriety rendering precarious the supplies of fish and game which attract to its borders so many of our sportsmen and pleasure seekers.

These considerations are alarming to those who, during the summer, look for recreation and enjoyment among the fresh water lakes, ponds and trout brooks of our inland forests.

Among the number interested in these matters, I with others have been seeking more abundant supplies, in waters more solitary, among the forests green and silent, and we have found them.

The magic pen of the reverend gentleman that has given so wide and enviable a celebrity to the attractions of the Adirondacks, would make the region I will attempt to describe equally celebrated, drawing at once a tide of pleasure seekers and sportsmen, both summer and winter, from those older grounds which have been so thoroughly hunted, fished and traversed.

Learning from gentlemen interested in the lumber districts along the upper waters of Union river, in Hancock county, that speckled and salmon trout abounded in all the lakes and ponds along and contiguous to the upper waters of Union, Passadumkeag, Naraguagus and Machias rivers, including the Schoodic lakes and ponds, and that all the brooks and tributaries of these lakes swarmed with trout and other fish, myself and a few disciples of Isaac Walton determined to learn by personal observations, the truth of these reports, rather than take our chances with the skilled anglers who are, at this season of the year, met all along the brooks, rivers, lakes and ponds of the Adirondacks and on Moosehead Lake and along all the streams which flow into and out of it.

With this intention we left Boston the last week in May, armed and equipped for a forest campaign, taking Mount Desert in our route. We left Bar Harbor for the beautiful village of Ellsworth, at the mouth of Union river, where we took the stage for Great Pond (through which flows Union river) thirty-four miles due north. In this place there is a Post-Office on the south shore of the pond, taking its name from Great Pond, and is on the northern verge of the great forest we were about to explore. To and from this place to Ellsworth a stage runs three times a week. The road, though passing over a rugged, wild and hilly country, is smooth and kept in excellent condition.

On reaching the highlands over this route, we attain an elevation which commands a view in every direction, land and seaward, unsurpassed in magnificence and variety at any point on the Atlantic coast, from Florida to the Bay of Fundy. In the distance at the north, among the mountain peaks, Mount Katahdin, high above them all, with its snow-capped summit, stares us in the face. Turning to the east, between the divided peaks and spurs of the Schoodic Mountains, we can see Grand Menan and other islands at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy, while at the south Mount Desert, bathed in the depths of the sea and washed by its ceaseless waves, standing as firm and majestic in its ocean bed as before old Neptune, tearing it from the main land, threw around it his encircling arms and isolated it ... waves, from this elevation presents its most enchanting view. Through the several ravines which cut and divide the mountains to its base, we catch glimpses of the Atlantic beyond, and ... over the ... of the ... this Island of ... Westward, where the ... we can plainly see ... the white ... of ...

Such are the outline of surroundings of the most ... ever overlooked. ... in the valley of the Penobscot, the beautiful city of Bangor is exhibited ... the broad expanse ...

from which we overlook this panorama of grand and diversified scenery, can form any correct estimate of its expanse, variety and sublimity. But I will diverge and come back to a description of our objective point, the great forest with its rivers, ponds, lakes and trout brooks, the southern verge of which we have reached.

We spent the first night out, at Lord's Hotel, in the little village on the south shore of Great Pond. Next morning, bright and early, with spirits refreshed and invigorated by the pure breezes from the sea and land, we crossed the pond, leaving civilization behind us and the great scandal but unfinished, and commenced the exploration of a forest, if not so wild and unknown as when Castine planted his little colony on the shores of the bay below us and in the name of his master, Louis of "Magnificent" memory, claimed jurisdiction over all the country north and east of his little settlement, is at least more silent, if not so great in extent, as that the Rev. Boston Murray has made so famous throughout the land.

Poling, or striking, as the lumbermen call it, our supplies, baggage, tents and camp equipage above the rapids to our boats on Union river, a mile above the pond, and our effects safely stored, we commenced the ascent of the smooth, placid stream, as it winds through the silent forest from the lakes and ponds above.

For a distance of some eight or ten miles the river winds through what appears like a beaver meadow, which in high water forms a lake about a mile in breadth. The waters are now confined within their natural channel, and the meadows, covered with a dense growth of wild grass, present a most beautiful appearance, the uplands on either side being fringed with an unbroken forest, now in full foliage. The river through the meadow averages about six or eight feet in depth, the water clear, cold and pure, save a bright brandy color tinge. Not a rock, log or other obstruction save the overhanging alders which curtain the shores, to impede the progress of our boats, the channel having been cleared by lumbermen, who for a generation, have floated their spruce and pine logs on their way to the mills at Ellsworth. Some four or five miles above Great Pond is the junction of the east and west branches of the Union river, the west branch taking the name of Big Buffalo. A mile above this junction is a small circular lake known as Brandy Pond, through which flows the main channel or east branch. This lake or pond is surrounded by a hard, sandy beach. The waters, though pure and transparent, have the same brandy color tinge, from which, doubtless, it derives its name. This pond on one side is overshadowed by dark forests of heavy timber, and by a broad sandy plain on the other side, which is covered with a dense growth and great variety of berry bushes, while at the outlet are luxuriant cranberry marshes. This pond, with its ten beautiful islands near its centre, covered with trees, is admirably adapted to pleasure and picnic parties. Above this pond the river maintains for miles the appearance described below.

Up the Buffalo or West Branch, three miles from the junction, another stream, called the Little Buffalo, enters the Big Buffalo, each in appearance as broad and deep as the main stream below the junction, while the meadows through which they flow are as broad, green and luxuriant. On each of these streams at the head of the rapids, above the meadows, are dams, for holding the waters in reserve for the convenience of the lumbermen in driving the logs as the waters recede. In connection with these streams there are, between Great Pond and the reservoir dams, several brooks and inlets, the outlets of contiguous ponds.

We have, during our stay here, fished in all these waters, and find them swarming with trout, from the size of brook trout to three or four pounds and upwards. In all our experience on Moosehead Lake, and among the lakes, rivers and ponds of the Adirondacks, we have never found anything that equals the supplies in these waters.

The streams are seldom fished, and the trout take the bait with eagerness. Finding the trout so much more abundant in these waters than we had anticipated, we have up to the time of this writing confined our sports to this locality, intending, however, to extend our explorations to the waters beyond, and learn from personal experience the truth of the reports as to the abundance, size and variety of the fish in them.

During our stay here we have made Camp Hopkins our headquarters. This camp is on the east shore, opposite the junction of the two streams, and three miles above the junction with the main stream, and at the western base of a high ridge, at the eastern base of which is the beautiful Brandy Pond already described.

This ridge is covered with a dense growth of giant hemlock, which predominates in all this region, dark forests of which can be seen from the top of the high ridge back of our camp, the lumbermen having confined their operations to the pine, spruce and cedar, leaving the great forests of hemlock, which are as primeval in their growth as before the axe of the woodman resounded in these solitudes. The hemlock we overlook from the top of the ridge above our camp is estimated to yield nearly, if not quite, (200,000) two hundred thousand cords of bark. For this commodity, so valuable to the great leather interests of the country in its crude form, there is no market, the distance to available transportation being too great, and as yet there are no passable summer roads leading out of the forest to the open country.

A movement has now commenced which promises a speedy change in this state of things. The growing scarcity of lumber throughout the country, and the increasing necessities of the leather trade for more available supplies of tanning material, demand the utilization of the great forests to supply its wants. The Messrs. J. D. Hopkins & Co., of Ellsworth, the fortunate owners of the township in which the denser portions of the forests are located, recognizing the necessities of these industries, and regarding the present time as auspicious for commencing the utilization of a resource in their possession so abundant and hitherto unproductive, have commenced the construction of an Extract Factory, on the grounds between the river and the ridge, near our tent. The site is well chosen and beautiful, being centrally located in the forests of hemlock and on the bank of a stream dividing their forests, and available for transportation of bark and lumber at all seasons,—by water in summer and ice in winter. A large gang is at work in constructing the Factory, while the surrounding forests are resounding with the sound of the axe and falling timber, there being nearly one hundred bark peelers at work in the forests about us. They have also a large gang of men employed in constructing a road about eight miles westward to Greenfield, where a connection will be formed with good roads leading to Oldtown, Milford and Costigan on the Penobscot, and on the E. & N. A. R. R.; making the entire distance out about twenty miles over a straight and level road, for the transportation of material, goods and passengers. Conveniences for the comfort and accommodation of visitors and sportsmen, are among the things in anticipation.

A communication relating to the manufacture, use and demand of concentrated hemlock tanning, which some months since appeared in the columns of your journal, coming under the notice of J. D. Hopkins & Co., induced them to make a thorough and careful investigation of the demand, present and prospective, of this comparatively new commodity and the process they have adopted for producing it. This investigation resulted in a determination to inaugurate the manufacture in these surroundings, of which they are the largest proprietors; hence the cause of the activities about us, which are to give to population and civilization this silent and wilderness portion of your State. The great abundance of hemlock so contiguous to the Factory, and in easy reach of tide water, insuring cheap freights to the best markets for their products, guarantees to them a margin over all others engaged in the manufacture of this product, which amounts to an advantage in the trade, not to be enjoyed by others.

In traveling over this section of the State, ...

and learn by the people that it abounds to a vast extent in all the region round about. This is an important element to the leather trade, being regarded by tanners as among the choicest tanning agents, used in the manufacture of light and fancy stocks. There is doubtless enough of this shrub grown in Hancock and Penobscot counties on this side the river to stock several extract factories.

The great fields of fern which cover so large a portion of this section of the State are as important to the leather trade of the country and to those who may prepare the product for use, as are the almost unlimited fields of sumac on the worn out portions of Virginia, to the trade and to the people who have the good sense to make them a source of industry and profit.

The rapid depletion of the hemlock forests in our northern States—which alone produce them—renders more valuable yearly, by year the native tanning material which abounds to so large an extent in this part of Maine. The present and annually augmenting necessities of the leather trade render these elements the most important resource of this otherwise unproductive region, where they abound in such profusion abundance. This industry demands and is to immediately have the introduction of a saw mill and barrel factory, and it is in contemplation to add eventually machinery for the manufacture of pails, tubs, etc., from the abundance of poplar and other timber in this locality.

I suppose the least observant of your business men are fully cognizant of the fact that nothing so greatly tends to contribute to the material and rapid growth of the State, and to the general prosperity of the people, as the development of such elements of wealth as may be found within its borders.

The rapid growth and almost fabulous prosperity of the agricultural States of the West and Northwest, is due more to their farming interests than all their other industries combined.

Two hundred years of sluggish growth and tardy prosperity had elapsed before the people of Pennsylvania were made aware that their rugged hills and barren mountains which covered so large a portion of the State contained inexhaustible elements of wealth indispensable to the growth and prosperity of the other States, the development of which has enriched her people and filled her valleys and the lower slopes of her rugged hills and mountain gorges with thriving towns and beautiful cities.

The discovery of the mines of gold and silver in the interior of the continent and on its western borders, have built upon the shores of the Pacific and on both slopes of the Rocky mountains, an empire of thriving and populous States, whose rapid growth and wonderful prosperity are unsurpassed in the annals of human enterprise.

The public press is the most efficient agent through which these events have been accomplished. The development of the resources of the agricultural States—the cane, rice and cotton fields of the lower Mississippi, the coal mines, iron and oil deposits of Pennsylvania, are not more important to the manufacturing States than is the native tanning material embraced within this State to the leather trade of New England.

Buckfield: Nathaniel Leonard died recently in Buckfield aged 84 years. He was one of two brothers and two sisters who were never married, living on the same farm west of the village 64 years, being the same that their parents moved on in 1811. The deceased was well known in his day as a teacher of youth and a land surveyor. With him has passed away much unwritten history of the town. A good man has fallen.——Although the number of families and pupils have increased at East Buckfield, there is no preaching or Sabbath school this season. Last summer it was the reverse. At the village there is preaching every Sabbath by the Universalists and Baptists, with flourishing Sabbath schools.——If the cocoons on the apple-trees could be reeled, they would be of greater value than a good crop of apples. The birds are preying upon the cocoons and even the hens where the limbs are low. The appearance of the crops save apples is good. No signs of the white worms to injure the crops nor fear of the grasshopper yet. The crop of grass is good and much of it secured. Mowers and horse-rakes tell the story for wise farmers.

A careful and painstaking statistician who rather enjoys looking into such matters, estimates that there are now perambulating the country more than one hundred thousand agents who are non-producers and receive their support at the expense of the industrious classes. As there is a prospect of a revival in business in the great centres of trade, the proprietors of manufacturing establishments in this State are not without reason looking for a lively sale of manufactured goods next autumn.

FALSE ISSUES

HIRAM, July 19, 1875

To the Editor of the Portland Advertiser:

The statement in your paper that I was nominated for Senator by the Oxford County Republican Convention as the avowed champion of the Hon. Lot M. Morrill's reelection to the United States Senate is entirely without foundation. I am neither the avowed nor secret champion of Mr. Morrill, nor am I the avowed or secret champion of any particular man for that position. I am entirely independent and untrammelled by pledge, or promise on that question; and the convention that nominated me understood this to be my position.

At the proper time, if elected, I shall endeavor to discharge my duty in this matter according to what I conceive to be for the best interests of the State, and of the Republican party. Respectfully,

S. D. WADSWORTH.

The above card, to which we referred yesterday, seems worthy of publication entire in order that our readers may see on what false assumptions and statements certain positive conclusions are drawn. The Portland Advertiser stated and reiterated that there had been a great contest in the Oxford County Convention between Mr. Morrill and Mr. Blaine and that Mr. Wadsworth the avowed champion of Mr. Morrill's reelection, had been nominated by a vote of two to one. The avowed champion speaks for himself in the above card, which needs no comment or interpretation from us.

The Commercial, the Augusta Standard, and the Portland Argus have been constantly advising their readers as to the terrible manner in which Mr. Blaine was defeated in Oxford County. We shall be much surprised if any one of those delectable sheets ever refers to Mr. Wadsworth's card. The Democratic papers somehow have a very keen desire to do all in their power against Mr. Blaine. They probably feel somewhat sensibly and sensitively the blows he has dealt their party for the past twenty years, during which he has been constantly in the fight.

But neither the Portland Advertiser prompted by personal spite, nor its Democratic confreres above named which desire to befog the State canvass with false issues will be able to drag the Republicans of Maine into a squabble over the Senatorial question at this time. That issue belongs to next year, and to next year the good sense of the Republicans of Maine will remand it. Neither Mr. Morrill's friends nor Mr. Blaine's friends have any right whatever to bring up that question at this time, and whoever permits it to be done, will in the end suffer by it. Mr. Wadsworth's card affords a good text for all Republicans to learn at this time and we commend its lesson to the careful study of those who wish to disturb the harmony of the party, by idle, useless and premature contests.

[From the Boston Journal.]

MR. THURMAN EXPLAINS.

Or rather, he begins a series of explanations, for when a public man gets into his position and is overruled and snubbed by his party, there are three courses before him. He can withdraw into dignified retirement, making his appeal to the future and awaiting the issue in silence; or he can grapple with his opponents in the party and have the issue out by main strength; or he can make a show of protest while grinding in the party mill as usual. Senator Thurman has chosen the latter course. He will show all the ingenuity he is master of in reconciling his opposition to rag money while straining every nerve to advance the fortunes his rag money party. Of course, his protests will be merely formal, for he is bound by his party fetters to do nothing which shall endanger Democratic success in Ohio this fall, which he regards as absolutely essential to the election of a Democratic President in 1876. He will be allowed to look one way while he rows another, and Pendleton and the other triumphant managers who have got him into this predicament take a malicious pleasure in witnessing his distress, for they know they have cut down all the pride of his public character and made him as much their tool as they could decently ask.

As this is the hard money victim of the Democracy of to-day! No man a few months ago seemed better able to hold out on the right ground and to bring his party over to it than Senator Thurman; but among the Democratic masses things were not as they were in the Senate Chamber. The undertow in Ohio unnerved and paralyzed him, and when he confronted the "howling mob of inflationists," the Democratic State Convention, he had nothing to say, and he now wants till July 31 to get his wits together. In the meantime, wherever Democratic votes are expected to tell on the political field, as in parts of the West and most of the South, there Thurman is daily taunted in the Democratic press and reminded of the Presidential prospects which he has as good as thrown away. The unhappy man has tried to get some consolation in his misery from a few Republican politicians, like Judge Kelley who are favoring his party in Ohio while they are condemned in their own. Even this little force of exceptional Republican expansionists has grown visibly weaker of late—the very ablest of those who ever took that ground, Senator Morton of Indiana, being now about to take the stump in Ohio in behalf of sound money and other Republican principles. As to the recorded position of the Republican party itself, it is as unquestionable as is its devotion to the Union. No, there is no help for Mr. Thurman, he has quailed in the hour of trial, sunk the statesman in the subservient politician, and his portrait turns to the wall henceforth.

No sensible man can fail to appreciate the disgraceful treatment of the liquor question by the Democrats in this city. On their own showing they are convicted of pettifogging in the most inconsistent manner for partisan effect. At first they complained that the Sheriff was arbitrary in executing the law, citing as a special hardship that certain mechanics were obliged to stop work because alcohol could not be obtained; then they assailed the Sheriff with the charge that he had indicated his purpose not to interfere with the sale of alcohol for strictly legitimate uses, then through the action of the Mayor they carried out their cherished design of closing the authorized Agency, thus depriving a large community of the only lawful means of obtaining spirits for medicinal and mechanical purposes, then they complained that the Sheriff had "winked" at the filling of prescriptions for liquors by druggists and the more zealous Mayor then caused the seizure of a package of spirits ordered by one of our prominent apothecaries. And in the face of this palpable demagogism the Democratic organ has the effrontery to express great sympathy with the druggist and to parade the difficulties which its party associates have deliberately created, as follows:

Now, what Dr. Alden would like to know is this: The sick call for liquor. Physicians demand it. He cannot compound his medicine without it. How can he get it legally and without an annoyance like that of this day?

As we said at the outset, such arrant pettifogging and duplicity must excite the disgust of all sensible men.

The Argus of yesterday copies from the Cincinnati Commercial a sensational item as to the manner in which Speaker Blaine gave the casting vote on the Goat Island bill in which the Central Pacific Railroad was interested. As there never was a tie vote on the question and as Speaker Blaine never gave a casting vote on it or any other kind of a vote, the story slightly lacks the element of truth. But this small deficiency of that essential quality does not bother the Argus. Since that paper has taken to circulating Dr. Jordan's lies, small fibs come very easy. Indeed at this season of the year our neighbor turns eagerly to pure fiction.—Portland Press.

THE BOWDOIN ENDOWMENT. A Brunswick correspondent informs us that the $10,000 required to complete and insure the the $100,000 endowment of Bowdoin College, has been made up within the time specified. The friends of the College will be glad to learn that this large acquisition to its funds has been secured.

The Cincinnati Commercial says:

If thirteen reasons why the Republicans will carry Ohio this fall are not enough, we will give two additional points:

1. There are more Republicans than Democrats—or, rather, more citizens who prefer the Republican to the Democratic party—in Ohio at this time.

2. The Republicans of Ohio propose to vote next fall."

The Bangor Commercial has ceased to be interesting the past few days. What's the matter? Has the exposure of Dr. Jordan's Agricultural College scrip lie been so crushing as to paralyze the pen of that hitherto ready writer of fiction. If the Doctor had lived in the days of Ananias, an utterly another person would have sustained that odious relation to history and stood as the awful example for all time.—Press.

THE JEWETT AND PITCHER FAILURE. A meeting of the creditors of the firm of Jewett & Pitcher was held and was largely attended at Young's Hotel, Tuesday noon. Mr. D. N. Skillings presided and Mr. John Rindge acted as Secretary. The creditors from St. John were represented by J. D. Lewin, President of the Bank of New Brunswick, J. J. Kaye of the Bank of North America and Messrs. S. R. Thompson and C. W. Weldon, barristers. After consultation as to the affairs of the firm and an informal statement, showing that the assets will exceed $2,000,000, while the indebtedness will be only about $1,300,000, the following committee of the Boston creditors was appointed to meet the St. John creditors and to report at an adjourned meeting Wednesday: Messrs. C. H. Warner, President National Bank of Commerce, W. H. Goodwin, Eliot National Bank, Charles O. Gage, Bunker Hill National Bank, J. J. Halley, Freeman's National Bank, and William L. Sturtevant, First Ward National Bank. Mr. Jos. S. Wheelwright of Bangor represented the Eastern creditors. The meeting then adjourned to 2 P. M. Wednesday.—Boston Globe.

USING PARIS GREEN ON POTATO VINES. The use of Paris green for the extermination of the Colorado potato bug being recommended on the highest authority, the Providence Journal suggests the following precautions in its use:

In handling the powder, it is essential to remember that none of it should come in contact with abraded or cut flesh, the dust should not be inhaled, it should never be left within the reach of children or fools; whoever applies it must do so with extreme caution, to prevent the wind carrying it into his own face or that of any other person. When applied in the dry state, it is better to mix one part of Paris green with twenty parts of flour, and of course a damp day or dewy morning is the better time to use it. It is to be sifted on to the vines through some apparatus with a long handle, in order to save the flying dust, and one should always stand to windward of his sifter. The Paris green does not dissolve in water, and therefore when applied with it, it must be kept from settling to the bottom of the pail. Do not allow the hands to get wet with the mixture. A Virginian has been entirely successful by mixing one part of Paris green with twenty-five parts of flour, and sprinkling the vines through two thicknesses of mosquito netting. Paris green is sometimes adulterated. It is so far the only specific for the potato bug, as hellebore is for the currant worm, although other remedies are more or less entitled to trial and consideration.

A NEW SEASHORE AMUSEMENT. Casting time at the seashore is an art. The inventive genius of men and women has been exhausted in providing ways and means to exhaust the morning hours. At a resort near Boston a gentleman appeared at the piazza a few mornings since with a volume in his hand, which was a new edition of Mr. Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations," recently published by Messrs. Little, Brown & Co. He offered it as a prize to the lady or gentleman who should get the largest percentage of correct names of authors of the most familiar quotations. A fund of amusement was afforded and no little amount of general information was thus obtained.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The Committee on Federal Relations in the Connecticut Legislature have decided not to make any report of resolutions as to the political situation. They probably feel that Eaton in the U. S. Senate is report enough for Connecticut.

Here is a conundrum aimed straight between the Democratic eyes by the St. Louis Republican: "The independent voter wants to know what the Democracy propose to do, and the sooner that question is authoritatively answered the better."

The Richmond Dispatch says that it will not let its personal prejudices stand in the way of welcoming General Butler to the Democratic ranks. After which the editor, as if he felt easier, proclaims—"let recruits come from anywhere, admit them all."

The philosophical Morrissey says of ex-Governor Hoffman: "He is a small, dishonest fellow, wherever he is. He's had his arm into Tweed and Sweeney's steal, he signed all their villainous bills. He ought to hide out of the sight of his country."

The Cincinnati Gazette portrays Senator Thurman thus:

"In learning, experience and ability he towers head and shoulders above the men who have put a hook in his nose and are leading him in strange and devious paths. Poor Thurman! It is a hard thing for a man to lick backbone."

The Cincinnati Enquirer, the organ of the Ohio Democrats who are famishing for more money, ought to omit its money market reports during the pending campaign. Under a recent date it actually says: "In the open market there is plenty of money and a scarcity of prime business paper, so that the rate is merely nominal at 7 per cent."

The fact is the Democratic party is not fit at this time to govern anything—from the nation down to a village. It has no leaders who can control the incongruous and discordant elements of which it is composed. Its numerical strength is the result of a combination of the outs and the disaffected. It is at present made up of ex-Republicans, ex-Liberals, ex-Whigs, ex-Abolitionists, and largely of ex-rebels. These have no common policy or principle. It is a combination of factions, and each faction liberally officered by demagogues.—Chicago Tribune.

Harper's Weekly speaks as follows of the scheme of a ring of newspaper men, who having made themselves ridiculous by their incompetency in the management of political affairs, have been growling ever since:—

Those who speak for the "Liberal" secession of 1872 are naturally fond of representing it as a simple movement for purity in politics. But, in fact, while there was a certain element of honest indignation with the Republican management, there was an immense element of the "sore head," pure and simple, perfectly well known to all who knew something of the interior history of many of the leaders in every State, and it was this element which captured the Cincinnati Convention and whole movement. It is useless to "cant" about it. The most ludicrous and stupendous joke in our political history was the invitation to regard the support of Horace Greeley by the Northern and Southern Democracy, with a few honest and very many dishonest Republicans at their backs as a great movement for the moral regeneration of American politics.

TO THE LADIES.

I am now manufacturing French Kid Button Boots, the best to be found in New England. These boots are really a Custom Made Boot for $6.00.

The great trouble with the French Kid Boots made for the retail trade is that the uppers are not given attention. One wears out faster than the other, and frequently one part of an upper wears rough while the rest remains smooth, simply because no care is taken in selecting the parts of a skin from which to cut the uppers. Every lady has learned this from experience.

Every part of an upper should be cut from one skin and the parts so selected that the upper will wear smooth all over. I am making the finest French uppers that can be produced, fitted in the neatest manner possible, thereby turning out a faultless boot, constructed on the McComber patent last (improved) which is so strongly recommended by every one that has worn boots made on this last, and which justly merits the praise given it. The bottom stock of these boots is the finest that can be selected. Made in four widths and for style, fit, comfort and durability their equal cannot be produced. Every pair is warranted in every respect and I would be pleased to have the Ladies call and examine these goods, whether they wish to purchase or not.

I also make Ladies Boots to measure when desired. THOMAS HERSEY.

FIRE AT OLD ORCHARD BEACH.

The Old Orchard House Destroyed.

Loss $50,000; No Insurance.

Fire Breaks Out in the Attic and Envelopes the Whole Building—The Losses of Guests, Etc.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, July 20. The Old Orchard House, E. C. Staples proprietor, is a heap of smouldering ruins. At 10.10 A. M. fire was discovered in the attic near the cupola, and an alarm was sounded. The flames soon walked up into the cupola and spread over the whole house. The fire being in the attic a good opportunity was afforded to all to get out. The season here is near its height, and there were 225 boarders in the house. Large numbers of them lose a portion of their wearing apparel and jewelry. The furniture in the lower part of the house was mostly removed. The alarm among so many persons in the house was great, but no accident occurred. The fire catching near the centre spread in all directions and in a short time the whole building was in flames. The main house, music hall, new dining hall, three-story ell, stables, billiard and bowling halls were destroyed, but the original Old Orchard House was saved. The loss is estimated at $50,000 with no insurance. Mr. Staples is the pioneer landlord here and his house was always full in the season. The regrets at his loss are universal. The fire department and hundreds of citizens came down from the city and steamers from Portland were telegraphed for, but the order was countermanded. The Ocean House was scorched, but was saved by the efforts of the men with blankets, carpets and extinguishers. The wind was from the north and blew the sparks away from the Ocean House.

The Committee on resolutions reported, first, a resolution favoring immediate resumption and calling upon every citizen to hasten the day when every promise of the Government to pay a dollar should be redeemed in coin; second, calling for a repeal of the war tax on banks; third, urging Congress to issue coupon bonds in exchange for registered bonds of the same; fourth, demanding the abolishment of the two cent stamp on checks and vouchers; fifth, favoring a permanent organization of national bankers. McGrath struck Wilkes with a cane and a struggle ensued. There was some lively fencing, in which Wilkes' cane was broken; neither were hurt.

MASSACHUSETTS.
Attempt of the Pomeroy Boy to Escape from Jail.

BOSTON, July 12. An attempt of young Pomeroy, the boy murderer, to escape from Charles street jail, was discovered yesterday. He had been digging out the bricks of the cell window with a piece of an iron wash dish, and his plan was after getting outside the cell wall to lower himself to the rotunda floor by means of cords taken out of the window. He was to leave the cell at midnight when the watch was changing, take advantage of the unlocking, as he supposed he could fell all who opposed him, and clear the jail building and scale the outside wall. Ingenious letters to his family describing the plan were found.

An Absconding Contractor.

LAWRENCE, July 12. George Rice, contractor for the tunnel for the city water pipe to be laid under Emery Hill, has disappeared, leaving his workmen unpaid for the last month. He drew $250 from the City Treasury, Saturday, half of which was advanced him on account of work done in July. No bonds were required of him by the Water Commissioners, but 20 per cent was reserved on the amount due him from the city. The city will lose nothing, but the workmen have little prospect of recovering anything.

WASHINGTON.
Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, July 21. President Grant arrived this morning unexpectedly. At noon the Cabinet met, with all the members present except Belknap. The President has not yet signed the commission of Gen. Badeau as Minister at Brussels. The formal appointment will not be made until the return of Jones from Belgium.

Much routine business was transacted at the Cabinet meeting to-day. A part of the time was occupied with the subject of District-Attorney Fisher's official conduct. The President, in asking Attorney-General Pierrepont to suspend his request for District-Attorney to resign, merely desired to afford the latter an opportunity fully to reply to the complaints against him affecting the administration of his office. There will be no further interference by the President. The Attorney-General will therefore act in such a manner as he may deem proper, and with this understanding the Cabinet are satisfied. The son of District-Attorney Fisher to-day resigned his position as assistant. Mr. Delano retired early from the Cabinet, the business he laid before the President concerning his department having first been considered. The fact of his having thus retired has no significance whatever concerning his official position.

On the recommendation of the Surgeon-General the Assistant Surgeons of the army recently appointed, have been ordered to report for duty.

ST. ALBANS, July 21. The second day of the examination demanded by George Gregory Smith opened at 9 o'clock this morning, and the testimony elicited showed conclusively that it was impossible for Mr. Smith to have had any connection whatever with the murder. The Democrats Open a Lively State Convention—Trying to Get Rid of Objectionable Delegates.

BALTIMORE, July 21. The Democratic State Convention organized at noon to-day at the Maryland Institute, with Hon. Stevenson Archer as temporary chairman. From that hour till a little after 4 o'clock there was an excited discussion participated in almost entirely by friends of Hamilton on the appointment of a committee on credentials, a motion having been made by them that the committee be composed of one delegate from each county only. This excluded the three Legislative districts of Baltimore from representation on the committee, and its further effect would have been the exclusion of the entire city delegation of seven from each of the three Legislative districts of the city, or twenty-one delegates, all said to be for Carroll, from the Convention. After four hours of discussion, a motion to amend so as to include the city Legislative districts in representation in the convention was carried, 64 to 45. This was a test vote and is regarded as favorable to Carroll. The friends of Hamilton opposed the admission of the city delegation, alleging inequality and injustice in their selection and appointment. A committee on credentials was then appointed and the Convention adjourned to 7 o'clock.

Still Wrangling.

The Convention assembled at 7 o'clock, and the Committee on Credentials did not report till nearly 10 o'clock. When they submitted a majority and minority report; the majority recommending the admission of the City delegation claiming the seats, and the minority recommending the admission of Hamilton delegates from the 6th, 9th, and 19th wards respectively who are contending for seats from those wards. On a motion to substitute the minority for the majority report a discussion ensued which, at 11.20 P. M., was progressing.

An opportunity to hear these phenomenal voices will be afforded the Bangor public to-morrow evening.

Nason served [illegible] in the First Maine [illegible] Artillery, and Lieut. Stackpole was a member of the [illegible] Sixth Maine Regiment. There are [illegible]

[illegible] a train, the use of which was tendered by Superintendent Angell, will leave [illegible] depot at 7.50 [illegible] to Treat's Falls. The City Government, the Fire Department in uniform, and others who have been invited, will go up on the train and participate in the ceremonies attendant upon breaking ground, for which no special programme has been arranged save that His Honor, Mayor Laughton, will remove the first shovel-full of earth, after which the train will return about 8.30 o'clock. A gang of men will immediately proceed with the work of excavating for the erection of the house for the pumps and other machinery.

THE "HATCH HOUSE" BURNT DISTRICT. A number of premature reports have been published concerning the intentions of the owners of the real estate formerly occupied by the old Hatch House which was burned over last winter, and several fancy sketches of proposed structures have appeared in print; but until recently none of the owners had decided positively upon future operations. We are glad to learn that F. A. Hatch, Esq., of Boston, who is now in this city, has fully decided to erect substantial buildings on his portion of the property during the present season, and has already taken the initiatory steps to that end. Mr. Hatch owns the larger portion of the real estate running from the lower end and intends covering it with a number of stores, etc. The well-known architect, Mr. Orff, is already engaged upon the plans to which we will refer more in detail when they are completed.

A RARE TREAT. Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Welling on kept "open house" on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at their residence, corner of Centre and Garland streets, the occasion being the exhibition of a magnificent specimen of the night blooming cereus, which on the first evening opened two elegant flowers, each of which was nearly if not quite a foot in diameter. The plant at that time bore another bud which last evening developed itself into a full-blown flower about ten inches in diameter, and like the others was a perfect specimen of its kind, filling the house with its delicate perfume. The plant is five years old and about four feet in height, and the sight of two perfect blossoms at once is a rare one, and was witnessed by hundreds, few of whom had ever before enjoyed the pleasure of seeing the unfolding of this beautiful member of the family of flora.

CAPTAIN ALDEN H. KNOWLES. Many of our citizens recollect with pleasure the visit to this port last year of the fine ship Conqueror, consigned to Isaac M. Bragg, Esq., and loaded by Messrs. Cutler, Thatcher & Co., with deals for Liverpool, and also her noble commander, one of the finest specimens of a merchant Captain who ever trod a quarter deck. They will regret to learn, as we do from the Yarmouth (Mass.) Register, in an extended notice, that Captain Knowles died at his home at Yarmouth Port on the 5th instant, of paralysis, having been attacked by the disease that morning while at Hyannis, on a fishing excursion. Captain Knowles was sixty-one years of age, and has since the age of eighteen sailed continuously in the employ of the firm of Benj. Bangs & Co., and their successors E. Williams & Co. During that time he has commanded some of the finest ships that ever floated, among them the Chariot of Fame, the Avenger, and the Conqueror. Both as a navigator and as a business manager he was eminent, and he has made some of the shortest voyages on record. The Register pays a high tribute to his worth.

EXAMINATION OF TEACHERS. The Superintending School Committee in view of the changes to be made, consequent upon the doing away with the Select School and the opening of the new school house, have decided to give the teachers of the present Select and Grammar schools and all others who desire it, an opportunity to compete in examination for positions in the reorganized Grammar schools of the city. Candidates will be examined in the following studies: Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, the 8 & 51 pages of Swinton's Word Analysis, Modern History, Physiology, Reading and Spelling, Criticism of Construction of English sentences. Candidates will be required also to write an essay of not less than 800 words, on one of the following subjects to be announced at the time of examination: "The Moral Relation of the Teacher to the Pupil," "The Educational Relation of the Teacher to the Pupil," "The Social Relation of the Teacher to the Pupil;" "The Disciplinary Relation of the Teacher to the Pupil." These essays are to be written at the place of examination. In the decision upon the applications thus made, regard will be had not only to the excellence of the examinations, but also to the past record of the applicants for efficiency in teaching and in government. The examination will take place some time in December.

UNION HOSE COMPANY.
The Ceremonies and Festivities Attendant upon the Reception of the New Hose Carriage.

According to previous announcement, yesterday was a gala occasion for Union Hose Company, No. 1, whose services in connection with the Bangor Fire Department have always been prompt and efficient whenever the property of our citizens has been in hazard from the common enemy. John Mason is the First Foreman; Eli Worthing, Second Foreman; Jeremiah Haley, Third Foreman; and in its membership Union Hose was never better organized or disciplined than at the present time.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Company met at the House, and at 6 o'clock in full uniform marched to Thoms' factory, where the ceremony of taking formal possession of their new carriage was held. It is substantial in its build, contains all the latest improvements, is handsomely finished, and is an honor to the manufactory, and to Foreman Mason by whom it was designed, and under whose personal supervision it has been constructed. An appropriation of $600 was made by the city for its purchase, but Mr. Low says such an one made elsewhere would cost a thousand dollars.

The carriage was formally presented to the Company in a brief address by Chief Engineer Low, to which response was made by Foreman Mason. The Company then took position on the rope by pairs, and preceded by the Bangor Cornet Band, with the Chief and Assistant Engineers next in position, made a parade through the principal streets of the city [illegible]

[illegible] guests, [illegible] served with refreshments in the [illegible] hall of the Company. Following the collation Foreman Mason extended a cordial welcome to the ladies and other guests, and then introduced Mayor Laughton.

His Honor prefaced his remarks by an apology for calling out the Fire Department by a false alarm late in the afternoon, which was the only means for notifying the several companies that their presence was desired at the initiatory ceremonies at Treat's Falls this morning. He was glad they took it good naturedly and hoped they would turn out in full numbers, as it seemed particularly fitting that they of all others should rejoice in the prospect of works which would within a few months so materially increase our protection against fire. He then proceeded to say that the life of the fireman was one of toil and of real danger, for which they are but poorly paid. They must not think themselves unhonored, and as they had passed along the street but a short time before in their gay uniforms none could tell how many hearts beat with gratitude to them. But as their Chief had once said, "When you are the dirtiest you look the noblest." When fresh from their labors in fighting fire, covered with smoke and dust, they were most admired; could they have but a tithe of the property they had saved, there would be no need for them to ask favors of the rich ones of earth; and should the saving of human life be placed to their credit, there would be found a large balance in their favor when their accounts should be settled above. His Honor closed with the wish that future generations might have as brave guardians as they had proved themselves to be.

Chief Engineer Low was introduced and said he found the situation a little awkward, for a father always thinks his own children the brightest and best in the world. This was his feeling toward the Union Hose, for he had enjoyed the best of opportunities for knowing the men as no other person could. He was always proudest of them when covered with grease and dust, for under it all he knew there were live men. A fireman in the street or in social life looks like any other man, but a fireman must be born such, for it is as difficult to make a fireman as it is to make a world. Mr. Low proceeded to briefly recount some experiences in the Department, and he never orders a man where he wouldn't go himself, said there was suggestion of success in the increase of improved appliances for overcoming fire, spoke appreciatively of the water works which are at last to begin, and closed by forgiving the men that their old hose cart had sometimes had a habit of jumping the sidewalk and tipping over.

Remarks were called for and brief responses were made by Messrs. Leighton, Park and Levensaler, Assistant Engineers; Messrs. Pond and Sinnott of the Committee on Fire Department, B. N. Thoms, manufacturer of the carriage, who 30 years ago had made the first four-wheeled hose cart in the city; Mr. Pritchard of the Cornet Band, Captain Mason, who said he could holler pretty well around a fire, but wanted more room than afforded by their hall for his voice to parade round in; Mr. Walker who painted the new hose carriage; and James F. Maloney, Captain of the Babcock, who neatly returned thanks for courtesies and expressed fraternal good wishes. At the conclusion of the speaking, which occupied less than hour, those who desired indulged in dancing, thus pleasantly terminating a memorable event in the history of Union Hose Company, No. 1.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC. [illegible] that purpose. The Sea Weed Tonic in its nature is totally different from such drugs. It contains no corrosive minerals or acids. In fact it assists the regular operations of nature, and supplies her deficiencies. The tonic in its nature so much resembles the gastric juice that it is almost identical with that fluid. The gastric juice is the natural solvent which, in a healthy condition of the body, causes the food to be digested; and when this juice is not excreted in sufficient quantities, indigestion, with all its distressing symptoms, follows. The Sea Weed Tonic performs the duty of the gastric juice when the latter is deficient. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic sold by all Druggists.

BRAIN INVIGORATOR.
LANCASTER, Pa., July 31, 1871.
MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS—Sir: I am pleased to inform you that my health is improving under the use of your Hypophosphites. Excessive tax of the brain had so exhausted my body that I could neither work nor enjoy myself, and it was with difficulty that I could sleep at all. I tried rest, and active exercise, various medicinal remedies, and the most popular physicians, and accidentally heard of your Syrup in New York. I purchased three bottles at Caswell & Hazard's and until I used that nothing relieved me. Now I can eat well, sleep well, work well and feel well, and have good reason to consider your Syrup a most surprising and capital restorer of the mind and nervous system, and advise all who have much brain work, to take it. You are at liberty to use this as you may.

And would have your wrongs quickly redressed,
Then to CURTIS' Kenduskeag Bridge, go,
And he will quickly heal your woe.

You will find there on exhibition.

At his store, you can view
The latest styles under the sun,
Something for each and every one.

Other than to say it is our intention
To make this "WIDE" emporium for all that Need anything in the shape of a hat.
And finally allow me to say
To all, the disconsolate and the gay
Give us a call when you come this way,
And you'll never regret it to your dying day.

VEGETINE
FAMILY MEDICINE
AND HEALTH RESTORER.

Judgment of the Public!
During the past five years the public have carefully observed the wonderful cures accomplished from the use of VEGETINE. [illegible] many an afflicted sufferer has been restored to perfect health after having expended a small fortune in procuring medical advice and obtaining poisonous mineral medicines.
It is now justly remarked by all classes of people that VEGETINE holds a higher position in the estimation of the public than any other medical compound. It has won its great reputation [illegible] from actual merit.
Its medical properties are Alterative, Tonic, Solvent and Diuretic. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with perfect safety, as it does not contain any metallic compound. It is composed exclusively of barks, roots and herbs; it is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It is safe and reliable, as the following evidence will show:

Valuable Evidence.
The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev. O. T. Walker, D.D., formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston, and at present settled in Providence, R. I., must be deemed as reliable evidence. No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years' experience with the use of VEGETINE in the Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounce it invaluable.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., 164 TRANSIT STREET.
H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:
I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your VEGETINE. My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.
O. T. WALKER,
Formerly Pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston.

The Best Evidence.
The following letter from Rev. E. S. Best, pastor of the M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many physicians, also those suffering from the same disease as afflicted the son of the Rev. E. S. Best. No person can doubt this testimony, as there is no doubt about the curative powers of VEGETINE.
NATICK, Mass., Jan. 1, 1873.
MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—We have good reason for regarding your VEGETINE a medicine of the greatest value. We feel assured that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now seventeen years of age; for the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reduced that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the faintest hope of his ever rallying, two of the number declaring that he was beyond the reach of human remedies, that even amputation could not save him, as he had not vigor enough to endure the operation. Just then we commenced giving him VEGETINE, and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed studies, thrown away his crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.
Though there is still some discharge from the opening where his limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured.
He has taken about three dozen bottles of VEGETINE, but lately used but little as he declares that he is too well to be taking medicine.
Respectfully yours,
E. S. BEST,
MRS. L. C. F. BEST.

Reliable Evidence.
MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I will most cordially add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, VEGETINE, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over thirty years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I could never breathe any more, and VEGETINE has cured me; and I do feel to thank God all the time there is so good a medicine as VEGETINE, and I also think it one of the best medicines for coughs and weak sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the VEGETINE, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.

POETRY.

BY MARY B. DODGE.

"A PERFECT WOMAN, NOBLY PLANNED."

'Tis said that Reverence upon Silence waits,
Fearing the misconceptions that pursue
The frank avowal of the simply true,
That when Expression swings impassioned gates
And cold Convention's bulwark violates,
Only the mask of homage passes through
Such test applied to common case may do,
Where common tongue false praise reiterates
But when a rare soul's radiance doth command
The worship of the few who understand
A woman's trinity of perfectness,
As well the songs of seraphim can die
About the Throne as men stand mutely by,
Dumb to the being fashioned so to bless!
The Galaxy for August.

THE LOST WAGER.

(Concluded.)

"If this is a fair specimen of the rising generation," thought the indignant Jabez, "they are about as impudent a set of jackanapes as I want to see. But I owe something to my long friendship with old Zebedee Chester—I won't turn the puppy out of doors quite yet."

"I suppose it is healthy?" asked Lacy, blandly.

"What is healthy?"

"Your property. Sometimes in these low grounds diseases are apt to prevail, and—"

"Does he expect my Mary has the fever and ague?" thought old Thorne, leaping briskly out of his chair as if an insect had stung him. "I'll send my daughter to you, young man—that will settle the business at once."

And before Lacy could express his surprise, his choleric host had banged the door behind him and disappeared.

Miss Thorne's astonishment was even greater than her father's had been. She was attired in white muslin, with a bouquet of crimson moss rose-buds in her bosom and a spray of the same exquisite flowers in her hair for some rural party or picnic, and at first absolutely refused to go into the parlor.

"What is it?" she exclaimed, blushing to the very tips of those tiny shell-like ears. "Is he to put an exhibition like one of your prize cattle? No, indeed. Let the young man go back where he came from! A pretty impression he must have of ladies in this part of the globe."

"But my love, Zebedee Chester is one of my oldest friends, and the young man is really a very fine looking fellow, and rich as the mischief. Go in and talk to him a bit, while there's a good girl! I can't stand it a minute longer."

And old Jabez wiped his forehead, on which the perspiration was standing in big beads. And Mary burst into an uncontrollable fit of laughter.

"The whole affair is so ridiculous!" she exclaimed.

But she adjusted the moss roses never the less and tripped demurely into the parlor.

Now if there was a determined point in Jack Lacy's character it was his aversion to women in general, and if there was any one thing on which he prided himself it was his decided old bachelorism. Imagine his vexation and dismay therefore, when, after a formal introduction, old Mr. Thorne withdrew leaving him tete-a-tete with the pretty creature in white muslin and roses. It was embarrassing enough, particularly as Mary blushed every time he looked at her, and evinced an exceedingly great disposition to laugh.

"Well," thought Jack, "the manners and customs of this locality are rather odd, to say the least of it. I came to consult an old man about purchasing land of him, and he bounces out of the room and sends his daughter. What on earth am I to say to her I'd like to know?"

And Mary, glancing shyly at the direction of her companion came to the conclusion that he had beautiful Spanish eyes, and a moustache decidedly superior to anything to the hirsute adornments of the young gentlemen at Thornville.

Mr. Lacy looked at the ceiling and down at the carpet, and wondered what he could do—he would be were he to escape incontinently through the open French windows. That would not be a very dignified proceeding however so he resigned himself to destiny by making some original remark on the weather. It had the much desired effect of breaking the ice, however, and he was agreeably surprised with the arch vivacity of Miss Thorne. Only once did she seem confused, it was when she had been describing a fine grove of cedars that belonged to her father's land, regretting at the same time that he contemplated the sale of it.

"I believe I should like to become the purchaser," said Jack. "Your father has told you that I had some idea of selling [illegible]"

Mary grew scarlet and murmured some [illegible] or other. The conversation was [illegible] checked, and Jack perplexed [illegible] for which he could perceive [illegible] rose to take leave.

"Will you mention to your father, Miss Thorne, that I shall call to see him about this matter to-morrow morning?" he asked.

And the moss roses in Miss Minnie's roses [illegible] heard [illegible] as she fled out of the [illegible] without a word of reply.

"Very singular family this," muttered Jack, slowly drawing on his gloves and walking down the broad garden path. "But she is an uncommonly pretty girl—and I shall certainly take an early walk through that grove of cedars to-morrow morning before breakfast."

The heart of blue-eyed Mary Thorne that night [illegible] she decidedly pleased that he should have a reasonable excuse for [illegible] her father's house so soon.

"[illegible] can't be in love," quoth he [illegible]. "But how Minnie would [illegible] if she thought I was in danger of selling [illegible] only a [illegible] but a wife."

Old Jabez Thorne was busily engaged in pruning the [illegible] his pet [illegible] with the [illegible] part of garden [illegible], that morning when young Lacy [illegible] the hedge and saluted him [illegible] "Good morning."

"Well, sir," he went on gaily, "I have [illegible] property, and am perfectly delighted with it. A fine healthy investment no [illegible] I'm convinced."

"[illegible]" said Mr. Thorne, dubiously.

"And I would like to take a second [illegible] portion to your society [illegible] please."

"Really Mr. Lacy," said the old man sharply, "my daughter has not come down stairs and—"

"What the mischief has his daughter to do with the matter?" thought Lacy, but he said politely.

"Of course I will await any time that may be convenient to you, sir. I observed a good deal of native roughness, but I cannot doubt that there is a very great susceptibility to improvement. A little judicious cultivation will accomplish wonders."

"Let me tell you, young man," began Mr. Thorne in a towering rage, but Lacy, who felt he had unconsciously committed some terrible blunder and hastened to say—

"In short, sir, I am determined to secure this rural gem at any price. What is the sum you demand?"

But Thorne fairly sat down on the gravel walk overpowered with the avalanche of wrath which he found impossible to shape into words.

"I on—my—word—sir!" he began, "you talk as if this was a matter of business."

Jack was puzzled enough. "It is the way in which I have always heretofore been accustomed to treat such affairs, sir."

"Heretofore—you have been accustomed, and pray, sir, how many such little affairs have you had on your hands?" shrieked old Thorne, growing purple in the face.

"Oh, several, sir. I am not so inexperienced as you suppose," replied Jack, smiling.

"Are you not ashamed to confess it?"

"No, why should I be?"

"Get out of my garden, you young reprobate," screamed Jabez, leaping up with lightning rapidity. "To come here and offer to buy my daughter, as if she were a patch of potatoes! Go, I say!"

"Your daughter, Mr. Thorne!"

"Yes my daughter, you Jack-a-dandy!"

"But I'm not bargaining for your daughter. I'm bargaining for that land across the river."

"Don't tell me!" ejaculated Mr. Thorne, tugging away at the fastenings of his pocket-book, "your uncle's letter has informed me of your atrocious intention."

"Will you allow me to see the letter, sir?"

Thorne jerked it out of the compartment where it lay, and tossed it angrily towards Lacy. He opened it, and in spite of his annoyance and mortification burst into laughter at the sight of Minnie's dainty handwriting.

"It's nothing to laugh at, sir," exclaimed Thorne.

"My dear Mr. Thorne, we are all the victims of a ridiculous mistake," said Lacy. "My uncle never wrote this letter; it is the work of my mischievous cousin Minnie. The genuine document must have been left behind."

"And you didn't come to look for a wife?"

"I came to purchase real estate."

"Whew-w-w!" old Jabez Thorne whistled long and loud, then offered his hand to his guest with a hearty laugh.

"Well, my boy, I'm heartily sorry I called you so many opprobrious names, but Mary and I supposed you were after her. I must go and tell the little minx what a blunder we've made."

"Stay a moment, sir," said Jack, laying a detaining hand on the old gentleman's arm, as his quick eye detected the distant flutter of Miss Thorne's light dress among the trees; "will you allow me to make the necessary explanations myself? I am not at all certain that after I have selected a home, I shall not enter into business-like negotiations for a charming young wife to preside over it."

"As you please, my lad," said the old gentleman, chuckling. "I'll give my consent, if only to atone for my villainous treatment of you, a little while ago."

He resumed his gardening operations, occasionally pausing to laugh all to himself while cousin Jack sprang up the path to seek Mary.

They were absent a long time—in fact, as old Jabez thought, an unreasonably long time before he discerned through the dense foliage of the acacia hedges their advancing forms, Mr. Lacy looking exceedingly proud and self-satisfied, and Mary leaning on his arm, with her pretty cheeks flushed and her lips wreathed in timid smiles.

"What does she say?" roared the paterfamilias.

"She says she'll consider it!" answered Jack demurely.

A week or two afterwards Minnie Chester received a neat little package containing the diamond sleeve buttons and the following billet:—

DEAR MINNIE—I've lost my wager, but I cheerfully deliver over the forfeited stakes, for I have won something of infinitely more value—a wife!

COUSIN JACK.

From which we may conclude that the result of Mary's consideration was favorable.

A Double Danger Averted.

The inhabitants of a malarious region is threatened by a double danger. He is not only compelled to breathe miasma, but to swallow it, since it infects not only the atmosphere, but the water. The aerial poison threatens his system through the lungs and pores, the liquid through the stomach. Against this double peril there is but one protection, and that is to invigorate the entire body through the digestive and secretive organs. Ordinary tonics usually fail to accomplish this—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters never. In the tropics, where the diseases originated by malaria are of a far more malignant type than those originated by the same causes in the temperate zone, it enjoys an immense and constantly increasing sales, and there is no portion of this continent where it is not the recognized specific for miasmatic fevers and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels proceeding from malarious and other causes.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays and Sundays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. Also open evenings from 7½ to 8½ P. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $32 50 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

All Letters must be Pre-paid.—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate; City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

All letters remaining in the office are advertised on Monday of each week. If not claimed in one month thereafter, they are then forwarded to Washington.

MONEY ORDERS.

Especial attention is called to the Money Order system, as a safe and cheap method of transmitting small sums through the mails. Orders are issued in sums of six more than fifty dollars. Larger amounts can be transmitted to the same person, at the same time, by additional orders.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

In announcing the Forty second Volume of this standard Newspaper, the Proprietors beg leave to state that during the past year they have incurred large expense in thoroughly refitting their establishment, and are determined to spare no effort in maintaining its high character as

EASTERN MAINE.

We have now one of the best appointed newspaper offices in the State, have made important additions to our Editorial, Reportorial and Correspondence corps, and are in every way prepared to furnish our patrons with a

FIRST CLASS DAILY NEWSPAPER

With facilities at our command we hope to make this favorite newspaper more interesting and acceptable during the coming year than ever before. Our connection with the ASSOCIATED PRESS, by which we receive the whole of their despatches by night and day, enables us to present in each issue

The Latest Telegraphic News from All Parts of the World.

In addition we shall be served by Special Correspondents at important points, and shall furnish

of the proceedings of Congress, the State Legislature, meetings of Agricultural Societies and other public bodies, carefully corrected Financial and Market Reports, a reliable Shipping List, original and selected Stories and Poetry, a large amount of instructive and entertaining Miscellany and a very full department of

News of This Section and the State.

In politics the paper will continue to advocate and uphold the principles of the Republican party, while claiming to be independent, in the highest and best sense of the word. While fearless and outspoken in its treatment of all public questions and firmly maintaining what it believes to be right, it will avoid intolerance and make its appeals to the understanding rather than to prejudice. The year about to open will be fruitful of political events of important bearing upon the future of the country, and it will be our aim to keep our readers thoroughly informed, and to favor such measures and policy as will best promote the welfare of all the people. The great interests of

of Maine will receive special attention and all the influence of the paper will be exerted in stimulating the growth and prosperity of our beloved State. We rigidly exclude from our columns everything of an immoral tendency, avoid sensational matter and seek to make a thoroughly reliable paper which will find

A Welcome in Every Family Circle.

To advertisers our columns open one of the best fields in New England, our circulation being among the best classes of the people, and as
